

Job Opportunity: Professional Biologist / Project Manager

Fiera Biological Consulting Ltd. is a small consulting firm based in Edmonton, Alberta. We offer wildlife and ecological research, management, and monitoring services to clients throughout western Canada. Our clients include municipal, provincial, and federal governments, universities, forest companies, engineering firms, as well as other environmental consulting firms.

Currently we are seeking a highly motivated, well rounded ecologist or wildlife biologist to join our team of professionals. The position will offer an opportunity to work in a dynamic environment on a wide variety of projects, both in an office and field environment. We are looking for self-starting individuals who are interested in excelling both personally and professionally. The successful candidate will be responsible for the management of projects, communicating with clients, setting and meeting deadlines, delegating tasks to staff, and ensuring high quality and rigorous work. The ability to acquire knowledge quickly, and communicate that knowledge effectively is crucial to this position.

Closing Date: Until Filled
